Following God is not an easy decision, but obedience to Him has hidden protection and provisions beyond what the eyes can see. So, every act of sacrifice for Him is worth it. Even at times when He moves differently than prayed or expected, Divine Trust teaches to wait in stillness – confidence for whatever God has in store. His rewards always exceed human expectations (Ephesians 3: 20). Many on their spiritual journeys choose the least resistant path. Fearing loss in this life and all that the sacrifice of obedience to God costs, they follow the masses to the easier way. Those who truly experience and encounter God, however, will suffer but they will also be rewarded not only in the life to come but in this current age (Mark 10: 30). This ministry is determined to follow and obey God, whether by ‘waters still or by troubled seas.’ Committed to partnering with Him to advance His kingdom of light over that of darkness, is the reason the ministry exists.

Year in Review

The Warfare Series

The Spiritual warfare series was hosted this year. The community of faith reached earnestly for the teachings, and by inspiration, we delivered on the subject. The results were monumental. While many professed Christians sadly, are terrified of and oppose the topic of warfare, many such people are unsuspectingly its victims. Especially those who profess to have all knowledge of biblical truth and superior insight to the Great Controversy between good and evil. Just like the Pharisees of old, this population is filled with theology and doctrine but void of knowledge of things of the spirit (Hosea 4: 6). Like Nicodemus, even teachers of the word cower in the face of this topic. No one who truly “fear” God, however, lives in fear of His adversary, satan.

The Great Controversy between good and evil began in heaven (Revelation 12: 7) and is the catalyst behind all of life’s ills. Despite this biblical truth, apparently, when spiritual leaders and adherents are confronted with the spiritual breakdown of how the great conflict plays out in the earth, like ancient Israel on the battlefield before Goliath, many run for cover. Few ‘stand like braves with their face to the foe'. The objective of the ministry is to educate so that God's people are not casualties of the spiritual battle. Divine assignments can be tough but like Jonah, Noah and all those like them called to do unusual and unpopular tasks, He leadeth Me Ministries and the Spiritual Intelligence Network, endeavor to fulfill divine tasks.

The spiritual backlash in fulfilling this call has been tremendous but despite the attacks the ministry is unafraid to cross enemy lines. We continue to teach how to reclaim all that has been lost and stolen from the enemy of souls. Under the Theme "LET US PRAY", the ministry opened the eyes of the blind and set many captives free from spiritual bondage. The results brought change in many lives. Testimonies on how God brought breakthrough from limited lives continues to resonate. Healing from disease, freedom from mental oppression, careers advanced, marriages mended, singles entering their marital destinies and prosperity are no longer elusive. For this we Praise God!

The ministry also hosted a virtual healing conference. Attendees were blessed by the ministries of Dr. Claudine Smith (MD) and Dr. Arthur Branner a Minister, Therapist and Former Military chaplain. Their respective presentations were God – led, as they broke down the paths to mental, emotional and Physical healing. They taught on healing soul wounds by nurturing the connection between mind, body and spirit. God promised to repair the breach (Isaiah 58: 12) and restore the stolen years of our lives (Joel 2: 25). We are honored through this ministry to be God's means to that divine end (Jeremiah 29: 11). The year ends with the final ministry production MIDNIGHT CRY, an evening of Breakthrough and Breakfree prayer encounters.

Writing is amongst God's most powerful ways of communicating. He has used many writers' past and present. The divine mandates to write are, therefore, frequent. This year one book was published and two more from a manuscript series are in the publication phase. While there are many modern-day writers who use artificial intelligence as a writing tool, Pr. Josie Frampton met with heavenly Intelligences before AI was ever a thing and partnered with her Ghost Writer the Holy Ghost, to birth manuscripts. Kingdom business will always be the ministry's business.

Upcoming Releases

Meeting Felt Needs

Ministry far transcends glam and fame. It is not a celebrity stage but a place of servitude. It is about meeting the felt needs of people within and outside the community of faith. It is above all, 'seeking the lost and pointing to Jesus' souls that are weak and Hearts that are torn.' This year, the Ministry made contributions of supplies to two charities both nationally and internationally. To the Country of Dominica and Pr. Frampton's community of upbringing specifically. Maternity and elderly care supplies were donated. On the national level, supplies were donated to a local Domestic Violence and Maternity Shelter. We also made financial and supply contributions towards victims of Hurricane Melissa. We look forward to expanding the ministry's reach globally.

New Resolutions

Resolutions should not only be at the start of the year. Throughout the year people should reconsecrate themselves to God. Frequent assessments should be made on how to be of greater value to God, His kingdom, His people and those He died to save. It is the spiritual process of sanctifying oneself. Resolutions affirm the connection with God and renew the relationship with Him. When the new year rolls in, heart preparation is set. This equips the believer to face whatever comes. In the spirit of new year resolutions, let's resolve to express love for God by serving and caring for others (Mathew 20: 40-45). The fact that 2025 proved survivable, is evidence that with God's people will thrive in 2026.

From the team at He leadeth Me Ministries - The Spiritual Intelligence Network, May the New Year be filled with God's abundant Blessings.
